BAILEY is a very common name both in England and Scotland, and the name can be traced back to 1010. The first Baileys came to America in 1635 and settled in Salem, Massachusetts. A great many Baileys fought in the American Revolution, their names appearing in the lists of soldiers in all the colonies.

One or two branches of the family evidently came down through Virginia and the Carolinas. Old records in the Laurens, Abbeville, and Edgefield Districts of South Carolina show the purchase of lands before the time of the American Revolution. Both the 1790 and 1800 Census lists Capt. Zachariah Bailey, Sr., as commander of a company during the war. From looking at the 1790, 1800, 1810, 1820 and 1830 Censuses, there appeared to be a greater number of Baileys in the Laurens, S. C. District than anywhere else.

Unfortunately, the members of the family have not been very good at keeping records, but there was a tradition in the family that David Bailey came to Georgia from South Carolina. This tradition proved to be right because the 1850 Census of Henry County, Georgia show the following:

David Bailey	Age 40	Born, S. C.
Cassa Hollingsworth Bailey	" 35	" " "
Zachariah Bailey	" 17	" " "

B A I L E Y (Continued)

If Zachariah Bailey, age 17, was born in South Carolina, as the Census shows, this makes the arrival date in Henry County, Georgia as 1833.

The 1800 Census lists David Bailey living in the Laurens, S. C. District, but this was ten years before our grandfather, David Bailey (1810-1878) was born. Listed along with David were the following names: Absolem, Daniel, James, John, William, Capt. Zachariah, Sr., and Zachariah, Jr., and Eli Bailey.

The same 1800 Census also lists Johathan Hollingsworth, David Hollingsworth, Joseph Hollingsworth, Robert and Richard Hollingsworth.

On April 12, 1793 David Bailey bought 66 acres of land from John and Susan Williamson and the deed was witnessed by Isaac Mitchell. The 1800 Census shows David Bailey as "Head of a family" and he could be the father of our David Bailey, (1810-1878) who moved to Georgia with his family in 1833. The Census of 1830 does not show a David Bailey. Evidently the older David Bailey had died or moved elsewhere and young David Bailey had not married and become "head of a family." Young David Bailey was married to Cassa Hollingsworth in 1831 or early 1832 as their first child Zachariah was born December 5, 1832 in South Carolina and their next child, Alexander, was born in Georgia. Since there is no mention of a David Bailey in Abbeville or Edgefield Districts in any Census, we believe that David Bailey, our grandfather, moved from Laurens District, S. C. into Georgia in 1833.

BAILEY (Continued)

David and Cassa Hollingsworth Bailey belonged to that hardy pioneering class who came into the wilderness to carve out for themselves and their children a place to live and raise their families. They owned a good deal of land and David Bailey was considered a successful farmer. He must have been an honest, upright and God fearing man as he raised eleven splendid sons and daughters. He and his wife gave two sons to the Confederacy, both having been killed or died during the Civil War. All their children have been outstanding and respected citizens in the communities in which they lived.

An effort was made to get pictures of both David and Cassa Hollingsworth Bailey but we could find only the picture of David Bailey which is reproduced on the following page.

You will note that some families are not complete. Repeated requests have been made for information concerning them. but these requests have been ignored. In other instances it has been impossible to trace some families because they have failed to keep in contact with their kinfolk and their whereabouts remain unknown.

Where such a vast amount of information about families is assembled, as is done on the following pages, mistakes will occur, for which please accept the apologies of the writer. It is suggested that you take your copy and make any corrections or additions with pen and ink, and make this book your own permanent family record.

Appreciation and thanks are extended to all those in the family who have co-operated in compiling the information contained in this Bailey Family History.

Dr. Alexander Bailey was born in the State of Georgia on the 30th day of June, 1834. There is no record of his formal education. He attended Medical school at Augusta, Georgia and, incidentally, the old building in Augusta is still standing and the medical school is still in existence.

He was not in sympathy with the Confederate cause. He was opposed to violence in any form. He paid two thousand dollars to hire a substitute to go in his place. This man hired another to go in his place and paid him one thousand dollars; number three went over the hill causing an immediate draft call directly to him. He did not get to finish medical school but took his intern work under gunfire.

He served in two Georgia Cavalry units according to the records of the Archives and History of the State of Alabama. One time he was given a gun and a box of ammunition, he laid the ammunition on the ground and leaned the gun against a great spreading oak tree and said that as far as he knew, it was still there.

He was shifted across the lines, he doctored men who were sick, regardless as to the uniform they wore. The Yankees at one time wanted to try him as a spy. Another time they tried to put him on a regular blue uniform. He was grateful when he found an abundance of medical supplies on the Yankee side. Both sides finally gave him a pass to shuttle between the lines; however, the records show he was kept a prisoner of war from October, 1864 until near the war's end.

He was in an old house during a rain storm along with one Doll Brooks who was looking at an old tintype of his sister, Fannie Brooks. Doctor Bailey fell in love with the picture and informed Doll that she would one day be his wife, for which he received a horse laugh, but he told the brother that when they met, he had every reason to think she was sufficiently intelligent to do her own talking. The courtship was brief and to the point. They were married before the war was over.

After the war he ran a drug store and engaged in the practice of medicine. Some of the old Feuds of the North Georgia mountains were still in progress. He was often called on to treat gunshot wounds. He treated one man who was shot in the heel.

His first marriage was ended when his wife took tuberculosis and died in 1870. Within a year he re-married to his wife's younger sister, Sallie Brooks. There were two children of the first marriage to reach adulthood, James Adeline and John B.

In 1876 the drug store burned along with most of his other earthly possessions. He rigged up four wagons of oxen and mules and put in his family and supplies and journeyed northwesterly with the thought in mind that he would land in the state of Missouri. After traveling some two hundred miles he landed on Sand Mountain in Dekalb County, Alabama where he was to spend the remainder of his days. He had in mind at this time to side-track the medical profession. He gave a shotgun and fifteen dollars for a squatter's claim.

This part of the country was still in a pioneer stage. Land was practically free for the asking. After staying on one hundred and sixty acres of land for five years with minor improvements, a patent was issued by the President of the United States for a fee of fourteen dollars.

It was wishful thinking for him to think of getting out of medical practice. For many miles in any direction he was the only Doctor available. He had long since learned to sleep in the saddle when his horse turned homeward. Occasionally he had time to plant a small patch of something on his farm but he was lucky to get enough sleep. There was an old man by the name of Wooten, whose eldest daughter, then Mrs. George Love nick-named "Old Never Fail Wooten". His folks were poor pay and when he came after the Doctor, he would be told that he had not been paid for several prior visits and was going to gather some much needed sleep. When he awoke old "Never Fail" would be still waiting.

He was very fond of chicken, fried, boiled, stewed and especially, chicken and dumplings. The fact was, he used it as semi-medication. He would direct the lady of the house to brew up a pot of chicken and dumplings and also ask that she bring him a bowlful. He said it enhanced the appetite of the patient just to see him eat.

DR. ALEXANDER BAILEY (Continued)

When Jefferson Davis, the President of the Confederacy, was to come through Ft. Payne en route to his final resting place, the Doctor was asked if he wanted to go down and see the train come through. His reply was, "That man has caused more widows and orphans than anyone I know. An old one-eyed cuss". He had seen him on several occasions during the war.

It would be hard to count the number of grandchildren he had, but there were many. He had a special way with children. He made me feel that I was the most important of them all. His usual comment on one of his granddaughters was "Sakes amighty, she sure is pretty. She favors me". His grandson, Charlie Love, asked him for his accounts so he could collect them. His reply was, "You are mean enough to make them pay. I came into this world with nothing and I am going out the same way".

It was a great pleasure to sneak into his medicine bags. He always carried a box of cinnamon along with other medicine. My father, George W. Love, was especially fond of Dr. Bailey, who was his father-in-law. I was certain when Grandpa came by that we would do no more work while he was there; that we would have ham, hot biscuits and canned peaches when supper rolled around. The best compliment I have ever been paid by my older sisters was that I had ways like my Grandpa Bailey.
